

Evidence-based health guidance

Branded editions now available...

information & publishing solutions

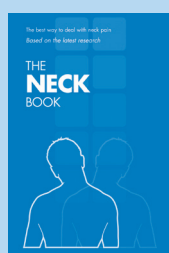

As the official publisher of evidence-based health guidance, TSO is uniquely placed to offer your group or company branded editions of these publications. This is the ideal solution for raising awareness of your organisation, while distributing important guidance. The titles available are: The Arm Book, The Back Book, The Neck Book, Your Back Operation, The Whiplash Book and The Hip and Knee Book. Branded publications will keep your brand and company presence in circulation for years to come.

Your bespoke copies

We will look after the complete branding process for you, from logo placement on the publication, to print and delivery of your bespoke copies straight to your door. Simply provide us with your logo, an indication of its preferred positioning and, if you wish, some introductory text to enhance your branding for the publication's preliminary pages. Other than linguistic cultural changes, there should be no need for other changes to the text, wording or content.

The process

Once TSO receives your logo instructions and any requests for changes, the authors will review the amendments, and, where necessary, contact you to discuss your requirements. Once logo placement and changes have been approved, our in-house design team will create your personalised publication(s).

Upon completion of your new, branded publication(s) we will provide you with a PDF proof to check and approve before it goes to print. Your publication(s) will then be printed at our in-house facility in London and the copies delivered to you. Each branded publication will be assigned its own ISBN, enabling easy ordering and dispatch and, as we are part of the DHL family, we can deliver your finished copies to you anywhere in the world.

Your branded publications will be available exclusively to you and if, at any time, you need more copies, then we can arrange a reprint for you.
